Since the little boy had been present in conversations between his mother and father, when he handed his parents his report card for the semester he made the folowing remark: "look this over and see if I can sue for defamation of character."

— CT —

The following letter from Miss Fifi Paree, manager of the Seymour Nudist Camp, was received by a utility company which obviously prefers to remain anonymous. The letter in full read as follows, and is complete for full understanding:
Gentlemen:

I wish to express my sincere thanks to you for the excellent service your linemen performed for our citizens last summer. It was explained to us that the transformer on the pole next to our camp and swimming pool was of a special type that had to be dusted twice a day, oiled once a week and have the bolts tightened every ten days.

A Mr. Watt, your superintendent, explained to me that unless the transformer was dusted regularly, the dust would coagulate with the paint, which would set up a chemical imbalance of hydrofoil and cause a great deal of trouble. I am happy to report that your line crew stopped every morning and afternoon and spent 20 minutes dusting the transformer.

— CT —

While this operation was being carried on, a Mr. Volt stood on top of the truck's cab overlooking the 8-foot fence around our camp and carefully warned the girls around the pool not to get too close to the transformer.

— CT —

Your crews always were very conscientious in making repairs. On one occasion a crossarm broke on a pole next to the tennis court where some of the girls were playing tennis. Nine men with three ladder trucks worked four hours to replace the crossarm. They had quite a little trouble making the repairs as they would put up a crossarm, put a level on it, then unbolt it and install another, to be sure it was accurate.

— CT —

A Mr. Shock explained to me that unless the crossarm was absolutely level the wires to the transformer by the swimming pool would sag, the power flow would thus be uneven and, as a result, only half of the swimming pool would be heated while the other half remained cold, and of course this would be very uncomfortable to all of us, and his concern was very realistic.

— CT —

Evidently we have a special type of meter by the swimming pool. The meter reader told us it had to be read twice a week by two men so that an exact overage of power could be calculated. One of your meter-readers is rather clumsy, because last summer on one of his trips, he fell over two lawn chairs, a picnic table and a garbage can while walking over to check the meter.

— CT —

All of us do wish to thank you again for the wonderful attention your line crews and meter readers gave us last summer. I have been assured that all the men will be on the job again this coming summer. I understand that last summer two of your men gave up their vacations just to make sure that our electrical equipment worked properly. It sure amazes us as to the complete dedication that your employees have for the company they work.

Sincerely, Fifi Paree

This is the end of the letter and very little more can or could be said . . . I think.

MAIL ORDER PROBLEMS HIGH IN LOS ANGELES CO.

Check With BBB Before Placing Any Mail Orders; May Save Money

Someone responds to an advertisement for a nut-cracker. Several weeks later the mailman delivers, c.o.d, two bricks. Another person sends away for a portable clothes line. His investment bring a small package conage containing two nails and a piece of rope.

Although those stories are atypical, they are true. It's also true that the single most active area of consumer complaints at the Los Angeles - Orange Counties Better Business Bureau involves the mail order industry. The complaints generally fall into three categories: slow or non-delivery of the merchandise ordered, it doesn't match expectations, or the product doesn't work.

Contrary to popular perception, BBB president William G. Fritz says the great majority of problems in the mail order business do not stem from intent to defraud. 'Sure there are firms guilty of fraud," he said, "but the great majority are not. The problem is they simply don't have the staff or equipment to handle the large volume of orders generated by their advertising." Fritz stated slow or non-delivery of merchandise produces, by far, the greatest number of complaints against mail order firms. He added, "We feel many of those disputes could be eliminated if people would simply call the BBB before ordering to investigate the delivery history of the firm."

There is a Federal Trade Commission rule governing the delivery of merchandise ordered through the mail. The rule provides that any company that cannot ship within 30 days of the date it receives an order, or within the time it advertised it would send an order, must notify the consumer of that fact. There is then the option of cancelling the order or agreeing to the delay. If the order is cancelled, the firm must provide a full refund of any money paid within seven working days from receipt of the notice of cancellation.

BBB president Fritz believes complaints on the quality of the merchandise ordered, including products that just don't work, are more difficult to prevent. However, calling the bureau before any purchase is a good rule of thumb to follow. In addition, he urges consumers to keep a copy of the ad from which they make any mail order. "Never mail cash with your order," he said, "always send a check or money order." If you have a complaint, present it first — in a clear and unemotional manner — to the firm involved. And it that fails to resolve the dispute, said Fritz, it's time to contact the Better Business Bureau.

Fritz would clearly like to see consumer awareness and improved business practices by mail order firms reduce the volume of complaints the BBB handles. He feels, however, that the bureau will probably always have a role to play in the field. The reason? Human nature, he says. "People's expectations will probably always exceed the rational. If they see a product attractively advertised for $2.98, they lose sight of the fact that the reason it's advertised at that price is because $2.98 is the value of the product."

Marie's Glass Burglarized Thursday

Marie's Custom Glass and Mirror was broken into and ransacked sometime during the night or, or early morning of last Wednesday or Thursday. The note left by the Police Department on a red card marked "Notification" stated that it was discovered around 4 a.m. and that the owner was to list anything stolen and report same to the Police Department.

Employees opening the store Thursday morning found papers torn from the drawers and bulletin boards and scattered throughout the building. The money in the cash register was dumped from the register into a nearby chair and left. Entrance was gained by breaking a small stained glass panel in the door at 13 Kersting Court.

Police investigated the break-in and burglary around

Delinquent Tax List Page Six

Sierra Madreans show deep concern and interest in keeping the old homestead and personal property free from delinquent taxes as the list of delinquent taxes, published on page 6 of this issue, and the issue of September 11 shows that less than 150 property owners representing less than 200 parcels are shown as being delinquent on the tax rolls for this, and past years.

This trend of keeping their taxes paid in full has been evidenced for the past ten years with each year the delinquent list becoming smaller and smaller.

Going back to the years of 1963-64-65-66, the delinquent tax list for Sierra Maderans ran in the vicinity of four full pages and showed a high total of over 900 delinquent taxpayers representing some 1200 parcels within the city.

Some years ago the County, realizing the dilemma of the taxpayers, moved the delinquent publication dates for the payment of taxes from the month of May to the the month of September. his allowed those that had high income taxes, Christmas billings and other obligations a few additional months to accumulate the monies for the payment of

SIERRA MADRE HAS MANY FIRSTS--SOME ARE LASTS

PICTURED is the sailplane, Sierra Madre, with designer Adolph Kelterborn and Albert Belohlavek, aide. Miss Muriel Tarr named and craft and used a bunch of Wistaria in the baptismal ceremonies on March 28, held on the Stocker Ranch. The year was 1930.

Muriel Tarr is now Mrs. Lester Bodine, owning a condominium on West Montecito, and spending some of her time, along with her husband, at Mineral, California. She is the aunt of Nancy Bryan.

History of City Long & Intersting With Ups and Down Recorded

Many great and interesting things have happened in the history of the City of Sierra Madre, some of them going on into history, some of them short lived.

As we search the files of the Sierra Madre News we come upon the era of the World's Largest Sailplane, built, chistened and launched in our City. The sailplane was built at 22 South Baldwin Avenue. The date was in March of 1930 and was spread over the entire month with the entire town closing for one day to observe its first flight. The first flight was March 21 and its last was March 28, when it crashed and was destroyed at Redondo.

The story in the Sierra Madre News was interesting and was under the headlines of . . . "Sailplane Sierra Madre Christened and Launched As City Takes Holiday" . . , . the sub-head stated . . . . "Short flight in the air proves that the aircraft is perfectly balanced and ready for real high wind test at Redondo Sunday Morning." The story is as follows with its story of demise following its birth.

The Sierra Madre, world's largest sailplane, designed and built by Adolf Frederick Kelterborn in Sierra Madre, was christened and had its first baptism in the air yesterday under the sponsorship of The News. From early in the morning until noon all roads leading to the Stocker ranch, off Live Oak avenue, were crowded with cars and pedestrians. The city practically took a holiday. The primary school and St. Rita's parochial school released the children and they flocked to the field. The great crowd was a unit in wishing that the conditions would favor a sucessful launching, but the king of the winds failed to produce a breeze sufficient to take the bird-like structure into the air for a real test.

After the christening ceremony, which took place at 10:30 o'clock, Kelterborn supervised a test of the starting ropes. There was nothing to do then but wait for a suitable wind. Along about noon the wind spurted and Kelterborn decided to make a trial. The lines were stretched out. Herbert Munson, Harold Burns, Sydney Davis, Charles Penters, Marvin Webster and Jack Butler, took hold of one end, and Charles Peterson, Pio Lorenzeni, Dutch Larson, Bud Marsh and Frank Lovell, the other end. They walked until the ship began to tremble under the strain of the pull.

Kelterborn, sitting at the controls, gave the word to let go and the Sierra Madre glided forward into the air, and then dropped gracefully to the ground.

"I managed to prove what I wanted to know," said Kelterborn, when he stepped from his seat. "The important thing was to learn if the ship is properly balanced and I had to take to the air to find that out. I am fully satisfied now that the ship is scientifically right, and more confident than ever that it will master the high winds when it meets them."

The real test of the Sierra Madre will be made at Redondo, at the foot of the Palos Verdes hills, early next Sunday morning. Strong winds prevail there most of the time. Winds sweeping in from the Pacific hit the foothill of Palos Verdes and provide the lifting capacity that the Sierra Madre requires. The ship has a wing surface of 300 square feet, the largest in the world. The wing spread is 59.9 feet. With Kelterborn in the seat it weighs 486 pounds and to get a fair start it must hit the wind at a ten-mile speed.

The actual christening of the Sierra Madre was performed by Miss Muriel Tarr of 274 West Montecito, with a bunch of wistaria provided by Miss Jessie Ward. At the last moment it was discovered that the famous vine owned by Mrs. Estelle Fennel, and which is the center of attraction every year during the Wistaria Fete, was not quite in blossom. Miss Ward discovered a small bunch in flower on the side of her home and came to the rescue.

The event attracted photographers from the Associated Press and all Los Angeles and Pasadena newspapers. When Miss Tarr touched the nose of the aircraft with the blossoms she was surrounded by Mayor Al Myers, L. R Goshorn, editor and publisher of The News, Adolf Kelterborn, who sat in his seat holding the controls, and Albert Belohlavek, who was Kelterborn's chief aide in building the ship. Miss Tarr displayed fitting modesty and unusual patence while the photographers snapped a score of poses from every angle

The crowd thinned out when it was announced that the wind was not sufficient for an immediate trial. The school children filed off the field showing keen disappointment.

During the afternoon a dozen or more airplanes visited the field. Most of them swept low over the Sierra Madre and were content to take a look from the air, but four of the airships circled the field and landed. The landing quartet came from Foothill Field, Monrovia. T. J. Phillips, well known as the "Flying Cop," led the squadron. The other aviators, all instructors at the Foothill Field, were Harold West, Glenn Smith, Nick Lertine, Bill Parsons and D. J. Robertson.

Kelterborn kept the ship on the field until 4 o'clock in the hope of finding sufficient wind for a real trial, but was forced to give up. The plane was then dismantled, loaded on the specially built trailer, and carried back to Kelterborn's shop, where it will remain until dawn on Sunday, when it will start for Redondo.

Among those present at the christening were Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams of Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. Shaffer, Meadvilie, Penna., Mr. Shaffer, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Humphries, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hull, Waverly Pratt, Mrs. F. H. Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Jr., Roland Adams, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tyler, Elmer A. Green, O. T. Weideman.

Butler, three sisters from St. Rita's chaperoning the upper grades of St. Rita's School, the fifth, sixth and kindergarten grades of the Sierra Madre grammar school, chaperoned by parents and teachers and Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, principal.

Just a few days later the sailplane crashed. The headlines stated . . . "Plans a new plane right after crash and the sub-head stated . . . "Kelterborn show's ship's flying efficiency despite mishap at Redondo . . . and this story from the Sierra Madre News goes on . . . .

Adolph Kelterborn, who met with misfortune in the trial flights of his sailplane, Sierra Madre, at Redondo, last Sunday, is far from being discouraged. Before the crowd of spectators had time to recover from the thrill of seeing the sensational crash and the physical wreckage of the designer's six months' hard effort, Kelterborn declared that he would try again. Before the day was over he was at work on a new model.

When the plane crashed the crowd rushed to the wreckage expecting to find Kelterbodn a victim of the mishap. They were amazed to see him step out jauntily and unscratched. "When I saw the ground rushing up at me I knew I could not escape it," he said. "When the wing touched I put the nose down and braced myself for the shock."

EXPERTS PRAISE SHIP

The Sierra Madre will never fly again. It was brought back from the field, but its twisted and torn parts are beyond repair. It will never be destroyed, however. Kelterborn will keep it and cherish it as a memento of an experience that had its consolation de-

"Nature Notes"

By Sandor Junkunc

Many years ago I read an intriguing, almost fanciful, book about wildlife. It had been written by a man who had close relationships with animals, some especially wild, others that were of the common, everyday variety. One particular chapter dealt with the unusual association this man had with an ordinary house-type fly that he noticed one day buzzing around inside his car. He eventualy called the fly Henry. I guess he was tuned in enough to strike up a sort of friendship with the fly, for the fly . . . . in a short time . . . developed enough "confidence" in the man to respond to his name and crawl up on the man's finger — and stay there. (Remember, at the beginning of this I stated it was "an intriguing, almost fanciful book about wildlife"). However, because houseflies don't live long, the friendly association didn't last long either. The bottom line is that, supposedly, this man had tuned in and had a close relationship with a creature in nature.

That particular chapter of that particular book came to my mind as I looked across the back yard from my hot tub the other day. A morning cloak butterfly silently swept back and forth nervously over the grass. "He . . . again," I muttered to myself. Deja vu! This same sequence had happened twice before! And, as before the whatever bird . . . or whatever creature, for that matter . . . had the reckless courage to trespass into this buttefly's domain!

There was one difference this time. It landed on the deck just a foot and a half from my face. I froze . . . if that's possible in a hot tub. Several times the morning cloak butterfly flew away, flying its usual figure eight path, only to return to the deck. However, each time it return, it chose to come a little closer to me. Was it attempting to strike a bond? Develop some sort of a relationship? A friendship? Was this another "Henry" in the guse of a morning cloak buterfly? And would it hop onto my finger . . . much like the morning cloak of a couple of summers ago landed, with a strange whooshing of its wings, upon the very top of my head? Time would tell.

Meanwhile, at this close range, I could see its markings with crystal clarity. A pale yellow band ran along the attered edges of its dark brown wing. And closely following the course of yellow strip was a row of well-spaced violet-blue spots. Very vibrant. Almost electric, up close! Its wings were especially soft to the eyes — almost like velvet. How could a creature with such soft, colorful wings . . . delicate wings . . . . fly so fast and aggressively? But what interested me most was the very long hairs on the back of this butterfly's body, slowly moving in the breeze. Its antennae were long, slightly curved, sturdy, and ended in elongated bulbs. I was entirely impressed with its beauty, as seen from only a few inches away! As I slowly extended a finger to see if it would climb on, the morning cloak hoisted its wings in preparation for flight.

In a moment it was gone, smoothly circling the yard, and chasing away all intruders as it had done before!

office of the Sierra Madre News and attempt to force his way into the private workings of the Newspaper, to the point of threatening the office girl on entrance and demanding information, to the point it was necessary for her to call for the local Police Department for his removal. The call was placed at 2 p.m., Thursday, August 21. A back room employee had to assert himself to stop the intrusion.

Although Mr. Knight stated that he worked with over 100 secretaries and they always used three initials, we have watched closely the past few days on some ten to fifteen letters and have noted that only two initials are so carried. A secretarial handbook tells us that it is ethically correct to use only two in signing off a letter, but here again, why should any of us be up tight about this situation.

Mr. Knight left the office before the arrival of the Police, and it was not necessary to eject him, however, it made the office secretary at the News Office very upset and she had to leave the office at 3:25 p.m.

Mr. Knight stated, and made his statements before four witnesses, that he was there against the advice of his attorney, who the attorney was, he did not mention.

As I have said before and will say it again . . . I have no qualms about correcting such situations that people may interpret from the columns of the Sierra Madre News . . . An Editor cannot control anyone's thinking anymore than anyone can definitely state, what is in one's mind at the time he is talking or writing: R. Robert Evans, Editor and Publisher of the Sierra Madre News.

Private Committal For E. MacKenzie

Private committal was held for Ethel Dixon MacKenzie, age 89, on Wednesday, September 3, at the hour of 2 p.m. at the Mountain View Cemetery in Altadena.

She lived at 207 North Baldwin avenue, a housewife, coming to the state of California many years ago from the state of Oregon and lived in Sierra Madre for the past 21 years. She leaves one sister, Ruth Kelterborn of our city.

She passed away at Sierra Madre Community Hospital on August 31. Interment was in Mountain View Cemetery with Ripple Mortuary making all of the arrangements.

Bill Wark Passes Away

Word has received on Saturday of the passing of William (Bill) Wark, long itme resident of Sierra Madre, and well-known past member of the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team plus a member of Sierra Madre Masonic Lodge No. 408.

It was reported that he passed away suddenly while surfing at the beach in Ventura County. Tentative funeral arrangements were being made for Thursday by Ripple Mortuary of Sierra Madre.

Rattlesnake Bite Victim Gets Treated

The Siera Madre Volunteer Fire Department Emergency Medical Unit reported that it recently had treated its first rattlesnake bite of the year at the Chantry Flats Ranger Station.

Spokesman for the department said since the inauguration of the Emergency Medical program in Sierra Madre there has been a least one bite treated each year. "The sad part is that none of these could be classified as a truly "accidental or unavoidable" bite. In every case, the snake was being handled by the victim at the time of the bite.

The rattlesnake season is still with us and with the cooler evening temperatures the rattlers will be out trying to soak up some of the early morning sun and it is hoped that everyone will avoid attempting to pick up the snake or tease them. Although the ratlesnake bite is very seldom fatal it does have a very traumatic effect on the victim.

It is against the law to harbor or keep rattlesnakes in the County of Los Angeles County and people would be well advised to give them wide berth if they spot one.

DEATH

Some will be saddened to learn of the death of Peggy L. Holt (Evans), who passed away in a San Gabriel Valley institute on Monday, September 1, after a lengthy illness.

She was the mother of Robin Rae and Candace Kay Evans. Interment was in Portland, Oregon, where another daughter, Sharon Lynn Helzer, resides.

Women Painters Open Fall Season

A group exhibition by the Women Painters West will open the fall season at Descanso Gardens' Hospitality House commencing August 30 - October 2. Among the local officers of this organiation Truda Chandlee, president and Peggy Lockwood, publicity. Naomi King, also a member, is coordinator and art director of Descanso Gardens.

Women Painters West was founded in 1921 and its membership is limited to professional women artists by invitation. It has grown into a membership of 160 artists not only of Southern California, but of all the western states.

Some 50 members are also members of the National Watercolor Society and many belong to the American Watercolor Society. Frequently members are invited to jury major exhibitions in all parts of the country.

Each year WPW organizes two or three exhibitions in Southern California. As a group they have exhibited in such esteemed art museums as the Los Angeles County Museum, and many college museums such as San Diego State University, Pierce College, Cerritos College, etc.

Pupils Entering Any School Has Many Obligations

No shots, no school!

With few exceptions, that's the rule for any pupil entering any school in California for the first time in the 1980 Fall semester.

Ramon Cortnes, superintendent, Pasadena Unified School District, reminds parents that current laws require children to be immunized against diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), rubeola (red measles), tetanu and polio prior to entering school.

All children entering kindergarten, or those entering first grade who did not attend kindergarten, must also be immunized against mumps and rubelal (German measles).

Children entering the first grade, Cortines added, must show evidence that they have received a complete health assessment within 18 months prior to entry — or 90 days after entry — into the first grade.

A certificate from the family doctor or other examiner is sufficient in most cases, Cortines said.

A few students are exempted from these rules for medical or religious reasons. In these cases, a physician's statements or a waiver is required from the child's parents or guadians indicating they do not wish to have their child receive the examination or immunization.

Immunization requirements apply to pupils entering any grade in any public or private school or preschool. Parents who have a "California Immunization Reord" or "Passport to Health" for their child should take this record to school at the time of registration.

Additional information about these requrements may be obtained from the Pasadena Unified School District, central office, by calling 795-6981 Ext. 291.

Scripps College To Open On Aug. 29

Scripps College opens its door next week to the fifty-third incoming freshman class. 214 new students will join the Scripps student body on Friday, August 29 when 772 women begin the fall semester.

Orientation activities for incoming students begins on Friday, August 29. Events include a reception for new students and their families at President and Mrs. John Chandler's home, an Elm Tree Lawn luncheon and a barbeque on Toll Residence Hall's lawn. There will be a Five-College Scavenger Hunt, Sunday, August 31 and a Five-College Turf Dinner and Square Dance is scheduler for Tuesday, September 2 at Pomona College. A special trip to the Norton Simon Museum in Pasadena has been planed for Scripps freshmen as part of the Orientation to the Scripps College Humanities Program.

Scripps is a four-year liberal arts college for women which offers a foundation series of courses in the Humanities and aims to prepare women for leadership roles in today's society.

Tax List

Although all payments for the first quarter of the personal property taxes becomes delinquent after December 10 and the second half delinquent after April 10, the taxpayer merely has to pay the interest charges and parcel charges, but are not published as delinquent. Those paying their taxes in full by 5 p.m. on June 30 are eliminated from the published list.

Those on the delinquent list may pay their taxes in full at anytime with added costs, penalties and interest prior to a five year period and they will redeem them without the property being sold to the state; however, as long as overdue taxes are evident the tax collector has an automatic lien against the property which cannot be sold or exchanged until such time as the taxes, with all interest and penalties, are paid in full. The current list of delinquents will be found on page seven of this issue and will be published for two weeks.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST 1980

Delinquent tax list in and for the County of Los Angeles, State of California.,

I, H. B. Alvord, Tax Collector of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, being first duly sworn on oath, say to the best of my knowledge and belief, that the total amount due for taxes, assessments and other charges levied in the year 1979 for the fiscal year 1979-80 were unpaid at 5 o'clock p.m., June 30, 1980 on the real property shown in the attached list.

This property, except that portion previously sold to the State and not redeemed, was by operation of law sold to the State of California on June 30, 1980.

The amount shown in dollars and cents opposite the description of the property is the amount for which it was sold to the State. Such real property may be redeemed by the payment of the amount of sold taxes together with such additional penalties and fees as prescribed by law, or may be redeemed under an installment plan of redemption at the office of the Tax Collector at 225 North Hill Street, Los Angeles, California 90012.

The name which precedes each parcel number refers to the name of the assessee. Where no name appears, the name is the same as that of the last assessee above shown.

Dated the first day of September, 1980.

H. B. ALVORD
Tax Collector of the County of Los Angeles

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Taxpayers who have disposed of real property since March 1, 1979, may find their names listed for the reason that present owners have failed to pay taxes, and according to the law, the name appearing on the 1979-80 roll must be advertised.

accurate and deals with automobiles.

— CT —

The Insurance Company says: "A low priced auto costs $3,500 sitting brand new on the dealer's floor, but if you went out and bought each and every part separately, the total cost of that auomobile would be $7,500.

— CT —

To get the car assembled would cost at least another $7,500 for mechanics' labor charges . . . So when you are talking about repairing an auto, a brand new car costs not $3,500 but a mere $15,000.

— CT —

Obviously, the difference between $3,500 and $15,000 is the savings obtained through mass production. Of course, mass production cannot be achieved for the benefit of over 200 million people except through the facilities of "big business." Yet, ironically, it is big business that has drawn the heavest fire of the dissidents . . . . Everyone of which, incidently, is well equipped with the products of mass production . . . . Think this one over for a while and be kind to those that are working for you and yours.

— CT —

Thinking in the vein of these same dissidents, many of the lawless and the desperate today excuse their ways by claiming that atomic annihilation is always just around the corner, and very soon now it will engulf all of us.

— CT —

Why then should they, or we, try to live good and hopeful and orderly lives, they ask, when our lifetimes are nothing but a futile, precarious pause between the savage darkness of history and the holocaust of the future?

It is my thinking, whenever we hear their arguments along these despairing lines, we wish they would read one short passage by Henry David Thoreau.

— CT —

It reads something like this: "I saw a delicate flower had grown up two feet high, between the horses' path and the wheeltrack. An inch more to the right or the left would have sealed its fate, or an inch higher; and yet it lived to flourish as much as if it had a thousand acres of untrodden space around it, and never knew the danger it incurred." . . . . Many, many of us today were born and lived just like this flower. Just remember it.

— CT —

I saw a unique bumper sticker on a car the other day, and it is the only one that I have seen so far, but it was professionally printed and said: "College used to be fun. Now it's a riot." . . . I thought it was unique, how about you?

— CT —

I ran across an old book with some choice quotations in it that I thought you might get a little chuckle out of, so here we go for a couple:

— CT —

"The difference between gossip and news is whether you hear it or tell it."

"Thinking is when your mouth stays shut and your head keeps talking to itself."

— CT —

"Let us be thankful for the fools. But for them, the rest of us could not succeed."

"Confuscious say: "Man who cosses ocean twice and doesn't take a bath is a dirty double-crosser'."

"Some people never exaggerate. They just remember big."

— CT —

The traveling salesman ran out of gas on a lonely road and asked at the only farmhouse in sight, "Can you put me up for the night?" "I reckon so," replied the farmer. "If you don't mind sharing a room with my young son." . . . "Good heavens," gasped the traveling man, "I'm in the wrong joke." I hope, I hope, I hope.

spite the tragedy of the finish.

Several glider experts who witnessed the trials, declared the Sierra Madre showed marvelous grace and flying efficiency in its brief existence. Their only criticism was that the test was too severe for a first launching.

"I wrecked the plane," says Kelterborn, "but I satisfied myself that it would fly and that satisfaction repays me for the loss. I was overwhelmed by enthusiasm over the graceful, easy way the plane took the air, and that had something to do with the crash."

Sometime during the night of Thursday or early Friday morning a break-in was made at the Toy Loan building in Memorial Park, practically destroying the inside of the building, breaking doors and windows and throwing everything in the middle of the floor after ripping and tearing. Earlier this month an entrance was made into the Senior Citizens Building, smashing fruit on the walls of the office. No activity was noted by the police during either evening or mornng hours.

Bible Breakfast At Santa Anita Church Set For September 28

BBC, the Bible Breakfast Club, starts an innovative approach to fellowship and Bible study at the Santa Anita Church, Arcadia, September 28 at 7:50 a.m.

Beginning with a continental breakfast each Sunday morning, the 52 week series will go through the Bible from the convential and the metaphysical points of view.

"People who are familiar with only the literal and historical meanings of the Bible will find new avenues of understanding opening to them as we consider the allegorical, psychological and anagogical meanings as well," said Dr. Margaret Stevens, minister of the Santa Anita Church.

"As an example, Ecclesiastes 11:1 reads, 'Cast thy bread upon the waters, for thou shalt find it after many days.' Literally, that bread could be found as a soggy mass washed up to shore, or we might find it in the form of some fish that had been nourished by it.

"Figuratively, we could interpret this verse to mean that the food we share with others will be returned to us, or it could mean that the good we do will rebound to us. Allegorically, we can think of 'bread' as money and believe that we share with others, or even that what we invest for some good cause will return to us, but there are other meanings as well.

"Anagogically, 'bread' can be anything that feeds us and 'waters' can mean the emotional and mental natures of man. When we cast our enthusiasm, our inspiration, insight and spiritual revelations upon these 'waters' they are also recycled back to us in time.

"The Bible is the greatest textbook for all aspects of living that has ever been compiled," Dr. Stevens said, "but unless we understand its symbology, we miss many of the wonderful applications to daily life. The original languages of the Bible, such as Hebrew and Aramaic, are fillied with idioms that mean something far different than the literal intepretation. To someone who does not understand these meanings, the 'handwriting on the wall' could be literally interpreted as graffiti."

Textbooks for the Bible Breakfast Club course are available at the Santa Anita Church bookstore and those who plan to attend are requesed to register before Sepember 15.

Editorially Speaking

Misleading

At a time when prodent spending is a most for most people to make it through the current economic crunch, advertisements which promise "special" social security information for a price may prove to be a costly disappointment.

The advertisements generally promote a book or financial schemes that provide social security "secrets" the reader cant get anywhere else. Or they hint at some official connection with social security or access to the readers social security records while promoting a private interest.

When the reader makes the purchase, it generally turns out that the information is of little use or that it could have been obtained free of charge at any social security office.

Often all the reader has lost in the transaction is the cost of the purchase. The actual risk of loss, however, can be much greater. People who rely on informatin from such sources for their financial planning may be getting inaccurate or outdated information on their rights and responsibilities under social security.

A typical example is a recent ad that promotes a book on tax loopholes that purports to tell people how they can lawfully drop out of the social security system. It's true that clergymen and members of certain religious groups can be exempted from social security self-employment taxes, but the rule doesn't apply to the typical reader of the ad, as is implied.

Another ad urges people to subscribe to a newsletter on retirement planning because social security is going "bankrupt" and inflation is "reducing the value of its benefits."

Social security urges people to plan for retirement, using their social security protection as a base for such planning. Despite the ad's claims, benefits are protected from inflation in two ways; they re paid in current dollars rather than in the value of dollars at the time they were earned, and they increase automatically with the cost of living once a person starts receiving them. The financing basis of the system is the taxing power of the Federal government. The social security system is not going bankrupt.

All this is not to say that there are no good books on social security produced by private industry. However, they generally purport to be no more than they are — either detailed explanations of changes in the law, or simplified descriptions of the social security program.

However, the social security office can give you accurate and up-to-date information free of charge. And it can be based on your own social security records, something no private person or organization can legitimately claim.

The social security office is prepared to handle general inquiries for social security information or to take claims, give benefit estimates, and other information based on your social security record.

The information may be provided by telephone, mail, or in person. People too disabled to come to the office can have a social security representative take their claim at home, in a hospital, or other institution. Films and speakers and other materials can be provided for groups and special programs.

People are urged to call the social security office when they see an ad that raises questions about their social security protection. Generally the office can give you information that can clarify the matter.

At the very least, you can get the correct information free of charge. The telephone number is 247 7100 (toll free from Pasadena) or 575-7963 (toll free from other areas).

Whatever Happened

Propostion 4, the spending limitation initiative passed last November by nearly a 3 to 1 margin, a record for a tax measure in California, is being gutted in the legislature.

Prop. 4 supporters. among them the Chamber. put together the same team that originally prepared the wording for the initiatvie to assist in the implementation stage. They were well aware that clear-cut definitions were needed as part of the enabling legislation. So far, we have failed in efforts in get the proper legislation. The Prop. 4 team of writers sponsored SB 1594 (M. Garcia) and near-identical AB 1590 (Boatwright) which were defeated in separate committees. We immediately tried to get amndments into SB 1352 (Marks) which, as it now reads, would give a loose interpretation of the initiative and spur greater government spending.

Those who now advocate loose interpretation under the guise of "flexibility," ignore the principle set forth in the spending limitation measure — there is a limit to the citizenry's ability to pay for government.

The spending lid is tied to population change and cost of living, which cannot exceed California per capita personal income of the prior year. This recognizes that when the per capita personal income does not increase to keep pace with inflation, taxpayers cannot support the same level of services in their private lives as they did the prior year. Paul Gann, and other proponents of Prop. 4, throughout the campaign repeatedly voiced their trust in the legislature to implement a tight lid. What has happened thus far is that the legislature has scuttled our efforts and, so far, only a very loose interpretation has resulted.

Fiscal flexibility means different things. To the spenders it means avoiding the lid or circumventing the lid in various ways. To those who want control of government spending, it means just what the people voted for — put a lid on spending.

"You Should See The Other Guy!"

As a boy it was so easy to justify a fight. Publicly you gloated over your opponent's bloody nose (and privately you wished that his had been the black eye with its more-lasting embarrassment). But, somehow, the victory alone excused the battle.

As an adult how do you view the matter? Would the possibility of bloody victory be sufficient justification for attempting to beat the tar out of some irritating neighbor? You might be arrested for disturbing the peace . . . assault and battery!

But that is not the real reason we control brutal impulses. The real reason lies deep in our Christian heritage:
—a sense of human dignity . . .
—respect for fairness and justice regardless of might . . .
—the belief that peace can be a blessing for weak and strong alike . . .
—that patient understanding can enrich life.

Rooted in the same Christian faith are other great principles of life which challenge men's hearts and minds. We seek to understand and apply them as we worship God in our churches. They are essential in a world still threatened with a return to the black eye and bloody nose . . . or something worse.

After twice disappointing the people of Sierra Madre with broken promises to attend meetings here Horticultural Commissioner A. R. Meserve was somewhat disappointed at the small attendance at the conference which he called at the city hall Monday evening. While the crowd was not large it was representative of the people of the city and an illuminating discussion of the scale problem was held Commissioner Meserve was accompanied by his son, Deputy Commissioner H. R. Meserve. There were also present Messrss. Clark and Keen who have fumigating outfits at work here, Inspector Strong and Superintendent Morgan of the Sierra Madre - Lamanda Citrus Association. Mayor Jones presided at the meeting.

Women Favor Suffrage — Nine to One Vote in Favor of the Ballot for their Sex — Of the 62 women participating in the straw vote conducted by the News on the question of whether or not women really want suffrage for their sex, 55 voted yes, six voted no, and one expressed a desire for partial suffrage. The vote in favor of suffrage thus stands in the ratio of about nine to one . . . . That the vote is quite representative of the women of Sierra Madre is shown by a perusal of the list of names. All classes and creeds are represented, as well as poltical parties. Classification according to political affiliations of the male members of the families so far as known, shows the following alignment: Republican — Yes, 22; No, 2; Democrat — Yes, 7; No, 2; Prohibitionist, Yes, 1.

Several Sierra Madre ladies have formed an equal suffrage organization. An effort will be made to see that Sierra Madre votes right at the coming election when the suffrage amendment will be passed upon. Dr. Abbie J. Mace-Betts is president and Mrs. Pearl Biederman secretary. Among other prominent members are Mmes. Frances A. Andrews, W. H. Ingraham, Jessie G. Udell, F. B. Wheatly, Lena L. Clark, Alice M. Woods, Isabelle W. Pierce and L. E. Steinberger.

Tax Rate Fixed for Next Year — Municipal Rate To Be $.92 — Reduction of Four Cents in Spite of Special Levy to Meet Interest and Bond Payment — Sierra Madre's tax rate for the coming year will be 92 cents on each $100 valuation. A resolution to that effect was adopted at last evening's meeting of the city trustees. The levy will be distributed as follows: General purposes, 54 cents; library funds, 12 cents; interest on bonds, 17 cents; bond sinking fund, 9 cents. Comparison with last year's rate the new levy shows a reduction of 4 cents. This occurs in spit of the fact that this will be the first year when money has to be raised for interest and sinking fund on bonds.

Women Ought To Know

Question:

I have been home with our two small children ever since the oldest was born four years ago. But the cost of everything has gotten so high that I must go back to work to help make ends meet. I can't find a good place to leave my children while I am at work. Why are there so few child care centers available for working parents?

— M. C., Glendale

Answer:

The lack of adequate child care facilities is a well-documented problem. The most recent study on child care in California, conducted by the Commission on Child Care and Development Services (the Riles Commission) found that two-thirds of all children who need child care have none available to them. For example, there are only 173,000 spaces in licensed day care facilities for the 247,000 children between three and five years old whose parents work.

The root of the problem is simply lack of funding. Until recently, funding for child care facilities was a low priority. But the Riles Commisson report spurred the California Legislature to pass SB 863 (Sieroty), which Governor Brown signed into law July 28.

Among other things, SB 863 provides $4 million in capital outlay funds for additional child care facilities throughout California, and an annual appropration of $12 million for child care. The net result of this legislation will be more child care facilities; more low-cost day care; and better child development programs.

The new law infuses much needed funding into an area that is seriously underfinanced. But more significantly, it marks the beginning of a new priority for child care in California. In these inflationary times, an increasing number of mothers must work, and working parents need child care facilities. The California Commisson on the Status of Women recognizes the magnitude of the child care problem and will continue its efforts to insure the much needed child care is available for working parents.

Lillian and Ray Sage of North Sunnyside had surprise houseguests recently. Well, not really too much of a surprise, more like spur of the moment. On Sunday evening, August 22nd, the Sages received a phone call from her cousins, Lillian and Jimmy Crowell of Atlanta, Georgia, who expressed that perhaps, since they had a few days off they had been thinking of jetting out for a quick visit. Well, the upshot was that they did and were met at the airpor the very next morning by a niece, George Christensen who resides in one of those extra elegant apartment homes in Redondo Beach. For the first few days, Georgia showed the visiting relatives around — places like La Jolla, Mexico, Redondo Beach and surrounding areas. Then she brought them up to the Sages on Thursday, August 26 for an overnight visit. Fortunately for all Chamber of Commerces concerned, the weather was without smog and perfect, though hot, for the Crowells' visit, and they fell in love with our town and especially the mountains. Their parting remark was that they would "always have an imprint of the Sierra Madre Mountains in our minds."

It's really wonderful to have guests who truly appreciate and enjoy your home, your community and your state.

The following letter, printed in whole is self-explanatory:

August 22, 1980

R. Robert Evans
Editor and Publisher
SIERRA MADRE NEWS
9 Kersting Court
Sierra Madre, Calif. 91024

Dear Mr. Evans:

I have been retained by Mr. Gary A. O'Neil and by Ms. Karen K. Knight with regard to the content of an article apeparing in the August 21, 1980, edition of your newspaper.

Mr. O'Neil is a local attorney in town and Ms. Knight is employed as his secretary.

In your column entitled "Gossip Te Gossip" appearing on page 12, certain false and defamatory statements were made and directed to my clients directly and indirectly. In that column you stated, in part,

"It was a response to a news article in the Sierra Madre News of July 10 answered on August 4. Mr. Gary A. O'Neil stated in this document that he had been requested by President Gordon Baker Lloyd, in his capacity as Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Chamber to make this response, however it was not signed by the Chairman of the Legislative Committee but by the wording Attorney at Law (would seem more impressive). The ending was quite interesting since it carried the initals kkk, I assume that was the typist. If I had those initials I am sure I would have done as other secretaries generally do and that is use two of them, kk, it would be less startling."

The clear implication in that article is that Ms. Knight is a member or sympathizer of the nefarious and racist organization known as the Ku Klux Klan. To impute a relationship between this organization and my client is false, defamatory and irresponsible. Ms. Knight has suffered great anguish and concern over the clear innuendo stated in that article.

Furthermore, you have maligned the reputation and standing in the community of Mr. Gary A. O'Neil by implying that he has hired an individual associated with the Ku Klux Klan as his secretary and typist. This direct implication is false, defamatory and irresponsible and his the effect of damaging his professional practice.

I demand that you publish a full, fair, and unequivocal correction of the above statements and of the above implications, in substantially as conspicuous a manner as you published the above article, in a regular issue of the Sierra Madre News, within three weeks after service of this notice and demand, all in accordance with California Civil Code Section 48a.

Your failure to comply with this request will leave me no alternative but to pursue this matter to the full extent available under the law.

Sincerely,
John T. Mac Millan
Attorney at Law
JTM:ss

Truthfully I had no idea that Karen K. Knight was an employee of Mr. Gary O'Neil, and had I have known it I still would not have made any attempt to slander her . . . As noted above I merely said that the ending was quite interesting.

It is common secretarial practice (as exemplified in the above letter) that the ending of a letter will carry the capital initials of the originator of the document and that it is signed off by two initials of the typist.

Really, I know very little about the Ku Klux Klan and certainly did not know that they were nefarious and racist, but if the writer of the above letter says so I have no reason to argue the point, so may it be.

Further, if the thinking of Mr. Gary A. O'Neil was that by implication that I stated or said that he had hired an individual associated with the Ku Klux Klan, I am indeed sorry that he had those thoughts, I certainly would be one of the last to attempt to malign the reputation and standing in the community of Mr. Gary A. O'Neil. If this be true then I bow my head in shame and do humbly apologize. To the typist Karen K. Knight I also say that if I have upset her, caused her any grief, although I did not know who, how or why she was evident, I also humbly apologize to her in all respects — signed R. Robert Evans

The debates for President place the League of Women Voters in high profile. However, the League also serves the public in observing and reporting on the actions of city commissions, councils and boards. League observers as well as League members who serve on civic commissions will be available to answer questions at the September neighborhood discussion groups which are open to the public.

The Sierra Madre discussion group will meet at 9:30 a.m. on September 18, at 3815 Fairmeade Rd., Pasadena. Members of the Sierra Madre Library Board of Trustees Betty Ryder and Mary Stetson will attend. Also in attendance will be members of the Sierra Madre Planning Commission Patricia Hofer and Roy Buchan. Further information may be had by calling Margaret Buckner, 355-7564 o 284-8287.
